How to Prepare for
COLLEGE ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS

1988

BY SAMUEL C. MCWHORTER, author of COLLEGE

Author's Note

Chapter One

What are college entrance examinations? Why are they important? How should you prepare for them? This book will help you answer these questions and more. It will also give you a detailed guide to the various college entrance examinations, including the SAT, ACT, GRE, and GMAT. You will learn how to choose the right examination for you, how to register, how to study, and how to take the test. This book is a comprehensive guide to college entrance examinations, and it is the only book you need to prepare for them.

STUDENT LIFE

THE SOUND OF SHAKER IS THE SOUND of the sixties—enthusiastic, bold, young. It is the jokes and laughter during a lunch period; the spirited cadence of the clapping cheer at the Heights Pep Rally. It is a multitude of mingled sounds merging into the confused unity of something that fifteen hundred students have in common.

With a mixture of sadness and anticipation, we watched the Fabulous Fifties bow out as a bright new decade bowed in. The sleepless nights during Exam Week were climaxed by the lively Exam Bang and a whole new semester—a time to start over again—loomed fresh ahead. With renewed vigor we struggled through Thoreau, argued at a meeting of the Jr. Council on World Affairs, or rehearsed for the Friday Variety. And then for one hectic unforgettable week—Student Council election week—we sang, danced and paraded in the halls and decked our books and clothes with gaudy tags. As the sounds of the campaign speeches died down, it wasn't too long before the measured tones of other speeches were filling Shakerites' ears—those at Honor Day and at graduation.

And so another school year rolled to a close. The fabulous fifties may well have ended, but the new decade is already going like sixty.

A SHY SMILE lights up Bonnie Seskin's face as Senior Ray King gives her some "Big Brother" advice at the Saph. Assembly.

Fun and New Friends

QUEST FOR THE UNKNOWN—Inquisitive Dave Krause takes a peek under the donkey to see who's inside.

MALE CHARM AND SPIRIT—as exemplified by Sternheimer, Waldo, West, and Sternheimer—spurs Shakerites' enthusiasm at the Heights Pep Rally.

Highlight the Fall Months

FALL—a time for making friends, a time for readjusting after the all too short summer. At the beginning, sophomores are a little overwhelmed by the mass of students pushing them through the halls. But soon they too are right in the exciting thick of it all—at the Kick-Off Party, at football games, at pep rallies, at the Fall Ball. Shakerites are out-going and friendly and soon everyone finds his own niche in the school.

For some a favorite haunt is the Social Room or Elbow Room; for others it is the Melvin Miller Room or the physics lab. But wherever Shakerites congregate, there is the ever-present Shaker spirit and enthusiasm.

BOY PURSUES GIRL—Actually Barb Needham is not running away from her date, Chuck Hugus; they're only cha-cha-ing.

Shakerites Soon Fall Back into GENIUS AT WORK—Jonathan Seldin ponders his move in a chess game during Honor Study Hall.

When the excitement and strangeness of being back in school after summer vacation had worn off, Shakerites settled down into the routine of classes, study, and report cards. So, too, did our foreign students, among them Belgium exchange student Dick Van Dyck and German-born Margret Kuhlman, for whom life at Shaker soon became as familiar as life in their home countries.

At first, though, Dick's and Kuhl's eyes must have opened wide at some of the sights that they saw. There were the honors math boys who played chess in study hall every day; there were the sleepyheads who dozed in class; and there was that warm sense of friendliness and companionship between student and teacher.

As our foreign students became accustomed to our way of life, so too did all Shakerites, each of whom gradually became an integral part of the school.

REMINISCING about life in Germany, Kuhli (Margret Kuhlman) finds a captive audience in Connie Chapin.

EXUBERANCE—Phyllis Wisch and Charlotte Wood seem to be more enthusiastic over Bob Wildau's card than Bob.

the Routine of Classes

SENIOR SLUMP—Shaker boys display varying attitudes during group conference.

A SHIMMERING CHRISTMAS TREE and a pretty girl (Sue Burton)—all Grant Kloppman needs now is mistletoe to make the evening complete.

WINTER—a time for holiday fun and laughter, but a time, too, for hours of study in preparation for semester exams. These were the busiest months of the year, when we filled each minute of the day with study for that English test, or with cheers for our basketball squad at the Euclid Pep Rally, or with laughter and music at the Christmas Dance. Finally, the new decade rolled around, and with it came a new stream of activities: cramming for exams, jitterbugging or cha-cha-ing at the Hat Hop, and cheering for our swimming team at the State Meet in Columbus.

Winter Ushers in the Xmas Dance, Basketball, Exams

CENTER OF ATTRACTION—Marty Dunn grins apprehensively as Senior misses extol his athletic prowess at the Shaw Pep Rally.

WIDE-EYED Judy Forward is entranced by the little cheerleader who appeared at all the basketball games this year.

THE THINKER—Bill Brattin assumes a classic pose.

EXPOUNDING THE VIRTUES of their candidate, the Sternheimer twins sound off for Gerber.

Chaos, Clamor, Confusion Mark Election Week

UNRESTRAINED ENTHUSIASM, which keynotes the three hectic days of campaigning, is reflected on the faces of parading Shakerites.

AFTER THE CHEERS AND PARADES—Schaul, Kaiser, and Grossman are declared the winners.

SPRING—bringing with it the satisfaction, frustration, and exhaustion of Election Week. For three hectic, noisy campaign days, Shaker's staid halls became the scene of chaos, clamor, and confusion. The campaign was waged in the halls and in the auditorium, in the classroom and in the cafeteria. The age-old booster problem, lunch period study halls, and such momentous issues as the selling of tea in the lunch line were brought before the student body at the campaign assembly. And then the shouts and the cheers died down, and Ned Grossman, Louis Schaul, and Janie Kaiser were declared the winners.

ELATION—Gordon Gray announces to campaign manager Janet Green that her candidate, Louis Schaul, is the new veep.

AT THE END OF THE DAY, the halls seem long and lonely.

JUNE—an end and a beginning. It is a time for nostalgia over a year gone by and a time for anticipation for the summer to come. Seniors walk down the long corridors for the last time as high school students. During the year, the halls seemed to stretch out interminably before their eyes, but then, almost without warning, they reached the last door—and stepped into the world. There is nostalgia and there are memories: empty pop bottles on the tables at the last dances, the half-remembered strains of music softly playing, a hazy memory of all the friends that helped give our life meaning during 1959-1960.

JUNE—an end and a beginning. School is over; summer is rushing in. For the aging Senior, another year of youth has ended; but a whole new life spreads out before him.

AT THE END OF THE DANCE—empty pop bottles.

There Is Nostalgia and There Are Memories . . .

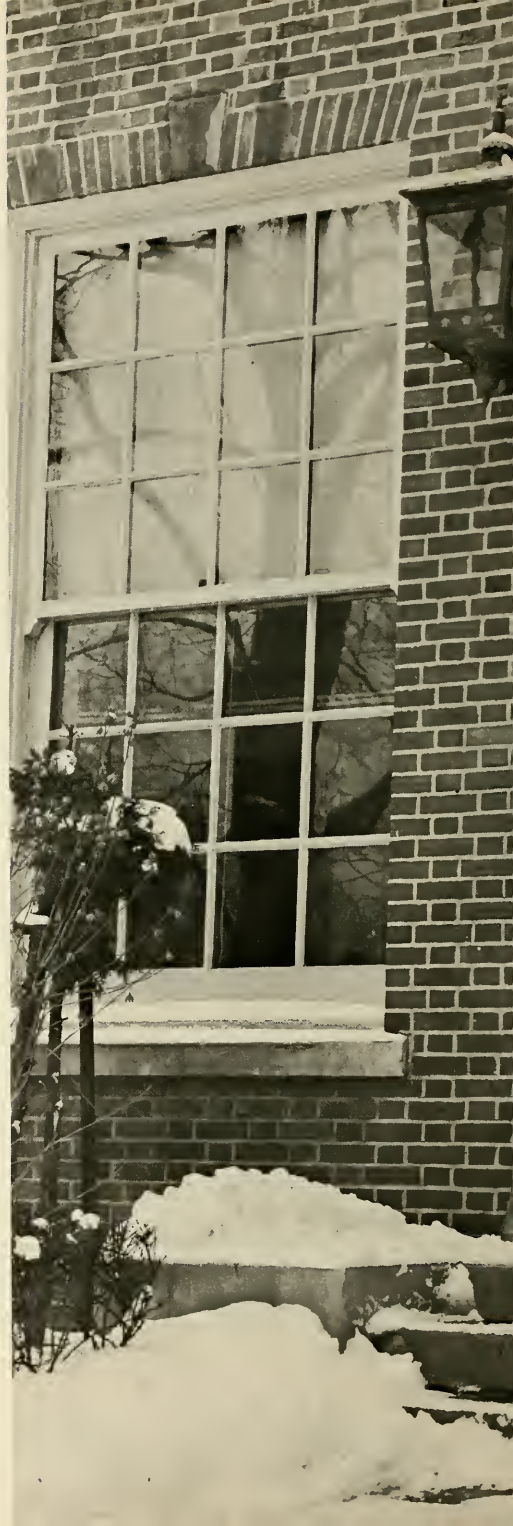

CURRICULUM

THE SOUND OF SHAKER IS COMMUNICATION, the daily interplay of sound between student and teacher. It is the laughter after a Bristol joke, the heated debate in a Modern European History class, a Szwaja lecture echoing down the corridor. It is all these sounds merging, blending, harmonizing into a valued exchange of knowledge.

But education is more than oral communication; it is also a meeting of minds. Bewildered, distraught, awed, or aroused, we were obliged, often unwillingly, to reappraise our opinions, beliefs, and prejudices. Whether stupified by a titration experiment we had thought impossible, or disquieted by Emerson whom we could not fully comprehend, we found these to be challenging moments in our education.

Now we are entering a new decade with a new urgency in education. Whether the new decade will be the widely-touted "Soaring Sixties" is open to conjecture. As for Shaker education, the future is clearly promising.

Shaker Among Top Ten

Can American education produce quality in quantity? Will our overburdened schools be able to meet the challenges of education?

Shaker's sustained position as an outstanding educational institution attests to the fact that quality can be produced in quantity. In the National Merit Scholarship test, for example, Shaker ranked first in the state with 27 semi-finalists. Forty additional seniors, 13% of the senior class, received commendation. With the National Merit results as a standard for comparison, Shaker stands among the top ten schools nationally. Shaker, though tradition minded, seeks to keep abreast of the latest developments in education by finding new ways to enrich and broaden the curriculum. In keeping with this philosophy, advanced placement courses in French and Spanish are planned for next year.

A dedicated faculty and administration, a student body with a desire for knowledge and a capacity for hard work, and a stimulating curriculum are fused at Shaker. The result is academic excellence.

The year 1960 marks Mr. Slade's final year as Superintendent of Shaker schools. Considerable change has taken place since Mr. Slade arrived on the Shaker scene. Students and faculty at the high school have doubled; the building itself is almost twice as large. As an alternative to the system of fraternities and sororities once prevalent in Cleveland high schools, Mr. Slade and Mr. Rupp were instrumental in the organization of Shaker's social program, including the construction of the social room and the hiring of a social director. Mr. Slade is grateful for the honor and pleasure of participating in the administration of the Shaker schools. "No superintendent could ever have a more wonderful experience than I have had," he affirms. Upon his retirement, Mr. Slade plans to travel and to continue his interest in education, particularly that of the Shaker schools. For his years of dedicated service and his many contributions to education in Shaker Heights, we owe a deep debt of gratitude to Mr. Slade.

Varied English Program Develops Literary Skills

The study of English is basic to the Shaker curriculum. Emphasis is placed on grammatical accuracy, the fundamentals of prose writing, and literature. Mastery of grammar is stressed in the sophomore year, and the study of literature is introduced through an analysis of essays, biographies, and plays. Julius Caesar and A Tale of Two Cities are read and discussed. The theme of the junior year is American literature, and in the senior year English literature is studied. Given special attention in the senior year are Hamlet and The Return of the Native. Reading Assignments are designed to increase the student's vocabulary and to improve his writing. The power of oral expression is perfected in a speech course, an integral part of the junior English program.

With a sophomore, junior, and senior class participating, the English Honors program entered its third year. Students are selected by recommendation of their ninth grade English teacher and by Cooperative and American Council test scores. A combination literature-composition course, the program is designed as a stimulating, college-level introduction to the literary classics. The curriculum of Greek, American, and English authors affords an opportunity for mature reasoning and critical analysis. Term projects are undertaken in the junior and senior years.

A nucleus for study, our library provides a variety of services. In meeting the needs of research minded students, the library proves an invaluable aid. Used as a source of information or as a quiet place of study, the library plays an important role in the academic life of our school.

New Frontiers

Under the tutelage of Mr. James Bristol and Mr. Fred Holzhauser, four classes of enthusiastic Shakerites met daily to delve into the intricacies of higher mathematics. To the uninitiated, these future Einsteins and Van Brauns speak an alien language of differentials, determinants, and derivatives. Yet such terms are very familiar to the members of the Advanced Placement mathematics program. Its three year curriculum, ranging from advanced algebra to calculus and analytic geometry, includes the freshman year of college mathematics as well as three years of high school mathematics.

For those students whose mathematical abilities are less advanced, Shaker's regular mathematics program offers a strong curriculum in elementary, intermediate, and advanced algebra, in plane and solid geometry, and in trigonometry. Practical applications of math are stressed in applied mathematics. A course in probability and statistics was offered last summer to interested students; as a result of its success then, it was made available again during the school year.

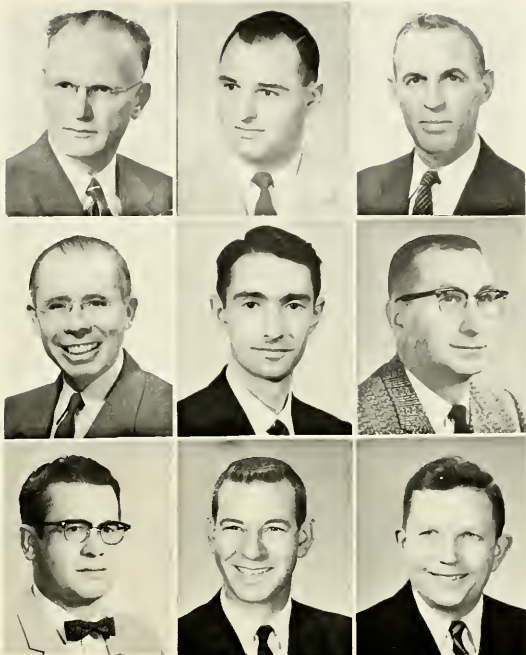

"WHAT MAKES PULLEYS RUN?" Mike Metz explores the mysteries of science.

in Math, Science

With the advent of Sputniks, electronic brains, and automation, demand for scientists and engineers has intensified. To interest students in science, Shaker offers excellent courses in biology, chemistry, and physics. Through a combination of visual aids, textbook study, and laboratory work, biology offers the groundwork for the study of living organisms. In chemistry, students study the composition and properties of matter. Those students taking physics became acquainted with principles of matter and energy.

Special interests and skills are encouraged. Help is given on individual projects and participation in a state science fair is urged. A science open house, held in the spring, gave students the opportunity to exhibit their projects. This year, a college physics course was offered for those students in the senior advanced placement math program. Next year, science minded Shakerites will be able to participate in an accelerated physics program patterned on a course developed at M. I. T. for high school students. In keeping with the upsurge in scientific interest, a group of Shaker students was selected to attend a series of seminars sponsored by the Cleveland Technical Societies Council.

GRAMMAR poses problems in Spanish, too.

Whether you speak French, Spanish, Latin, or German, Shaker's language curriculum provides a challenging and rewarding experience. As in the English program, the fundamentals of grammar are stressed in the first two years of language study. Once a mastery of basic grammar has been achieved, various literary selections are read and discussed. Good oral pronunciation is emphasized in all of the language courses. Four years of Latin and French and three years of Spanish and German are offered. Planned for next year is a fourth year of German. In keeping with the changes in foreign language teaching in the past decade, Shaker's language department utilizes the tape recorder as an aid to instruction. Plans are also being made for a language laboratory in the near future.

MR. SZWAJA'S LECTURES make social studies live.

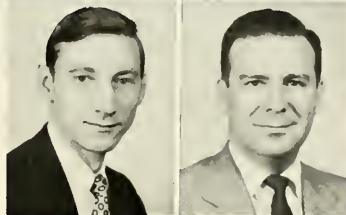

An understanding of the world's social, economic, and political problems, and a knowledge of history are essential to a liberal education. Shaker's social studies department aims to develop both of these abilities. Basic democratic attitudes are developed in American history, American government, and American problems. Economics, world survey, geography, and modern European history build world understanding. Next year a course in world history will be offered, and modern European history, currently limited to seniors, will be broadened to include juniors who have completed world history.

Advanced Placement History, an integrated two year course, offered an enriched program of studies in the field of the social sciences. Considerable supplementary reading is combined with intensive classroom work. In the absence of Mr. Kenyon Cramer, recipient of a John Hay Fellowship for a year's study at Harvard, Mr. John Harbourn is teaching the program.

"Arts" Broaden Curriculum

Both the fine arts and the practical arts play essential roles in the modern high school program. Arising from the diverse interests and talents of Shaker's student body, our program in the arts offers many rewarding experiences. The program of study in vocal music centers around the school's three music organizations: A Cappella Choir, Singers' Club, and Chanticleers. The highlight of this program is the annual Christmas concert. In addition, enthusiasts of instrumental music may pursue their interest in Shaker's marching band. The art program at Shaker deals with drawing and painting and with art appreciation and technique. While the groundwork is laid in the junior high, the three years of high school offer more complex problems of study.

For the more practical minded, courses are available in home economics, business principles, and industrial arts. Classes in foods and clothing further homemaking abilities. Useful skills are also developed in mechanical drawing and shop. The course in business principles provides an insight into the complexities of the modern business world.

Guidance for the Mind and the Body

With the innovation of the trampoline for girls and elective activities for senior boys, the physical education department this year widened its already varied and extensive program. Both group sports and individual sports are offered to the girls. These include fencing, tennis, swimming, hockey, and volleyball. Special emphasis is placed on Oriental sword dancing and South American folk dancing.

While sophomore and junior boys do push-ups and other calisthenics, senior boys are free to elect those activities in which they wish to participate. A prerequisite to graduation at Shaker is successful completion of the Red Cross Intermediate Swimming Test.

Guiding the mind as well as the body, Shaker devotes one day of the week to group counseling. From working out schedules for sophomores to helping seniors with college choices is the wide variety of functions performed by the highly trained Shaker guidance staff. A complete record of each student's test scores and past academic achievement is available to the counselors so they can better advise the students.

In Memoriam

The following excerpt from Tennyson's "Ulysses" is a favorite of Dr. Dilley's students and symbolizes that for which she strove.

. . . COME, MY FRIENDS,

*'Tis not too late to seek a newer world.
Push off, and sitting well in order smite
The sounding furrows; for my purpose holds
To sail beyond the sunset, and the baths
Of all the western stars, until I die.
It may be that the gulfs will wash us down;
It may be we shall touch the Happy Isles,
And see the great Achilles, whom we knew.
Tho' much is taken, much abides; and tha'
We are not now that strength which in old days
Moved earth and heaven; that which we are, we are;
One equal temper of heroic hearts,
Made weak by time and fate, but strong in will
To strive, to seek, to find, and not to yield.*

CLASSES

THE SOUND OF SHAKER IS THE SOUND OF the underclassmen—their laughter at the Junior Prom, their provocative discussions in American History, their cheers at a J.V. football game. It is, for the most part, a carefree sound. College worries still seem years away, and sophomore and junior girls bask in the attention of senior boys.

Like old-timers underclassmen plunge headlong into the social, extracurricular, and academic whirl that is Shaker. Sophomores soon discover the friendliness, laughter—and snack bar—in the Social Room, and soon they sponsor their own dance, the Hat Hop. Always eager to participate, the underclassmen enthusiastically join everything from the Junior Council on World Affairs to the Bridge Club.

The underclassman's life is a kaleidoscope of new experiences. During six weeks of each semester juniors are exposed to the art of oration, one of these new experiences. Braving the stares of forty-eight eyes, junior Penny Wallack, on the right, begins her dissertation on "Bus Driving as a Profession."

Sophomores

Like all former sophomore classes, the Class of '62 was at first lost in the multitude of high school sights and sounds. Honors classes, hour long periods, all that homework and the impending threat of three-hour finals were all new to the tenth graders. Nonetheless they dived into the unknown high school waters with the enthusiasm that dominated all their class activities.

The signposts all point to great accomplishments for this class. They had so many capable, intelligent students that an extra section of the honors math class had to be added to accommodate the qualified. Their social activities also mirrored their imagination. The sophomore girls, after the big-little sister party on the first day of school, had no difficulty making friends with upperclassmen. The Sophomore Sock Hop in February was one of the best planned, best attended, and most successful dances of the year. There is also good cause to be optimistic about Shaker's athletic future. The sophomore footballers took the lead with a successful season, and the tenth graders played well on many of the varsity teams.

The sophomores were also outstanding scholastically. They endured the time-honored sophomore course from Copperfield to Caesar, band to biology, Latin to logarithms, and French to formulas with the success that promises to maintain and even to improve Shaker's already high academic standing.

Juniors

From the Junior Prom to the chemistry final, from college conferences to demonstration speeches, and from senior boys to sophomore girls, the Class of '61 ran the full gamut of its junior year activities with whirlwind speed and efficiency. The Junior Prom, graced by the Junior Prom Queen and her attendants, climaxed the busy underclass social season. During the year the Juniors assumed many more responsibilities and took full advantage of their newly acquired privileges of rank. For instance, after denying themselves the right to drive to school as sophomores last year, they assumed their new franchise this year with such eagerness that the Ashford lot and the Oval were crowded with junior-mobiles daily.

There was at least one junior on every varsity athletic team, and they contributed greatly to our successful interscholastic year. Junior voices, especially female junior voices, could be heard cheering loudly at every game, meet, or match. From summer football to spring baseball, Shaker's immediate athletic future seems bright.

The Junior academic year had the same highlights as all former junior academic years—the sights and sounds of speech class. For six weeks, the second year men (and women) persuaded, entertained, demonstrated, informed, and argued with Mr. Kittle, Mr. Danford, and other Juniors on a variety of subjects ranging from how to diaper a baby to why or why not capital punishment should be abolished. The rest of the year they struggled through Thoreau, "Thanatopsis," The Scarlet Letter, and Twain with equal success, if not equal interest. And from September to June, they memorized amendments to the Constitution, valences, and geometry theorems; translated, experimented, and computed. All in all, most Juniors agree that this has been, so far, their finest hour.

PLANNING a full social season are junior class officers Ned Grossman, Vice President; Bill Boukalik, President; Valerie Restifo, Treasurer; Emmie Stonehill, Secretary; and Shelly Golenberg, Social Chairman.

SENIORS

THE SOUND OF SHAKER IS THE ENTHUSIASM of the senior as he studies Milton, or masters the principles of trigonometry, or enjoys the Senior Prom. Even now he can still hear the cries of the cheerleaders at the Euclid game or the laughter and confusion during the Hi-Y—Y-Teen football game.

By January the most familiar sound for the senior is "Where have you applied?" But when the seniors have finally received their letters of acceptance—or rejection—from the colleges, and the tension is over, they heave a tired sigh of relief, and plunge headlong into the fun and occasional soberness of Senior Privilege Week, graduation, and the Senior Prom. The exuberance of the Senior Class is exemplified by its leaders, Dick Johns, Roger Klein, Janet Laurie, Judy Forward, and Chuck Pitcock who, on occasion, are literally and figuratively up a tree.

The senior year has drawn to a close. For a moment there is only silence as thoughts turn back. Then a new sound is heard, and the second movement begins.

BOYS' SPORTS

THE SOUND OF SHAKER IS HEARD IN THE joy and sorrow and in the victory and defeat of her athletic teams. It is the shrieks of delight from the crowd during the Euclid football upset and the lingering silence at the tennis matches.

Shown at the right is the helpless shout of Coach Stark as he receives the traditional dunking after the mermen won the Euclid Relays. This is the same enthusiasm which permeates the entire sports program.

As the "fabulous fifties" draw to a close, we can look back over the last decade with pride. Shaker placed among the top schools in the state during the '50's as its varsity representatives captured four state crowns—one in swimming, one in wrestling, and two consecutive championships in golf. And looking ahead to the '60's, we may safely anticipate another decade of even greater sports thrills and perhaps even more victories.

The omnipresent guidance and leadership of Coach Nay Sanna proved a mighty inspiration as the Red Raiders surprised many a team with their unyielding spirit.

Solid Ground Attack, Sporadic Defense

The main dish on any fall sports menu is football. This year, under the tutelage of Nay Sanna in his first year as coach, the Red Raiders did not fail to supply their followers with many exciting experiences. Although some were disappointing, most were exhilarating.

Shaker admittedly did not have an outstanding football squad this year, and participating in L.E.L. competition made success even tougher. The Sannamen had their ups and downs, their outstanding games such as those against Euclid, South and Parma, and their disappointing performances at Shaw and Heights. This team had its heroes—Denny Reimer with his consistently fine running and Mark Fishman with his exceptional blocking and tackling—and this team had its goats, too. The rooters witnessed many courageous goal line stands, especially in the Heights and Parma games, and viewed various frustrating falterings such as those against Brush and Shaw. These are the many spices and salts which season a team and make it exciting.

The season opened with two well played victories over South and Maple Heights. Showing fine defensive skills, the Raiders limited these two teams to one touch-down apiece, while rocking up five tallies against South and two against Maple Heights. A football oddity occurred in the season's appetizer when an alert Mark Fishman, carrying out his defensive assignment, grabbed an errant South aerial and raced 40 yards for the tally. It was only the third time in two years that a Shoker lineman had scored a touchdown.

Before digging in for the season's main course, Lake Erie League competition, the Raiders faced a highly touted and much respected Brush eleven. On this particular Friday afternoon, the Arcs' bristling attack was extremely potent and the Sannamen faced a most exasperating task in washing Brush out of their hair. At the final gun, however, the scoreboard showed that Brush had won, 32-0.

In the first meeting of the season against an L.E.L. opponent, the Raiders again resumed their winning ways by conquering an unimpressive Lakewood eleven, 20-6. Coupled with a steady, hard driving offense, the defensive unit, including co-captains Matt Harris and Bill Stage and other standouts Jim Mylott, Larry Singermon, and Jim Millican, proved themselves to be quite invincible on this occasion.

ELUDING SHAW PURSUERS, Dennis Reimer sweeps around left end to gain a first down.

Rugged Defense Curtails Euclid and Parma

A week later the halls of Shaker were filled with tension as the Sannamen prepared to take on their arch rivals, Cleveland Heights. It seemed that on this day the only thing the students wanted to get out of school was themselves. As the opening kickoff approached, the stands were bursting with enthusiasm as every Shakerite intently awaited the official's whistle. However, the Tigers also felt the keenness of the situation and proved themselves too great an opponent to be overcome, as they went on to lick Shaker, 24-0. Impressive in this otherwise dismal contest were the two mighty goal-line stands by the stalwart Shaker defense as Heights was twice contained within five yards of pay dirt.

With this distasteful experience out of the way, the team faced an even tougher assignment with first ranking Parma invading the confines of the Shaker stadium. However, much to the surprise and elation of a somewhat skeptical crowd, the Raiders performed with brilliance as they restrained the mighty Redmen to just two touchdowns, both quarterback sneaks from the one yard line. Although Shaker lost this game, 16-8, it was certainly a moral victory and a most enjoyable afternoon for the fans. A perfectly executed pass play from Jim Teresi to Mike Marina for 25 yards resulted in Shaker's lone tally in this thriller.

At Shaw stadium the following week, the Raiders were struck by a powerful and well-balanced Shaw team and were trounced 50-14. Lone high spots in this one sided contest were a well-executed end run by halfback Dennis Reimer and a smashing line plunge by Tom Stevens.

Contending with a highly rated Euclid team, the Raiders' defense again accomplished a Herculean feat by completely outmaneuvering the offense-minded Panthers and by not allowing them once to score. Combining an effective balance of passing and running, highlighted by junior Robin Wallis' two touchdown romps, Shaker thoroughly subdued an astonished opponent, 16-0 in what was certainly the season's greatest thrill.

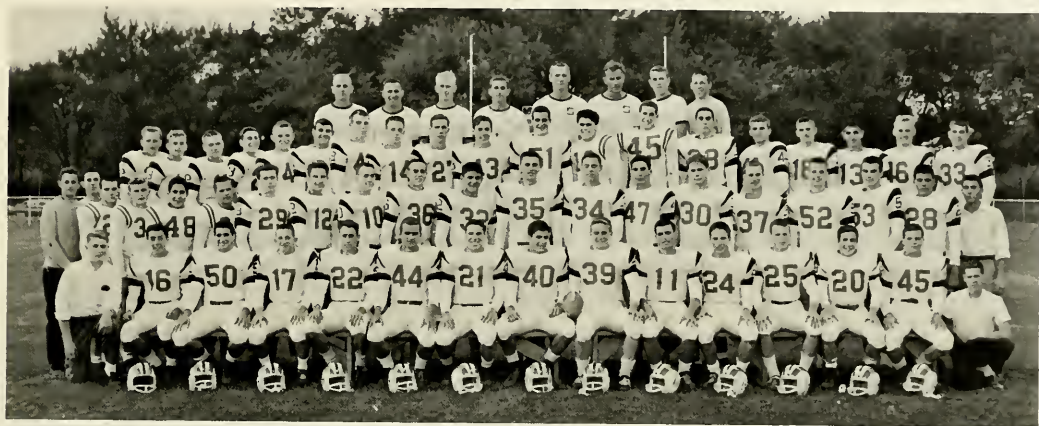

Facing a solid Garfield team in the season finale, the Sannamen, boasting a 4-4 record, needed this victory for a winning season. However, Garfield also wanted this game. Despite some fine running by Robin Wallis who again scored two touchdowns, the game could not be pulled out of the fire as Garfield edged Shaker 26-20.

INSTRUCTING the players who are about to enter the game, Coach Heinlen scrawls on the turf to convey his message.

Preparing for their future years as varsity participants, Coach Heinlen's sophomore squad diligently practiced many hours to perfect their football skills. On August 19 these boys, fresh from junior high, began the arduous task of building themselves up for their first experience in interscholastic competition. Boasting one of the most balanced squads to come along in many a year, this team had both powerful linemen and hard-driving backs. Such boys as Ron Mesnick and Dick Siegel solidified the line while Joe Petko and Jim McGeorge presented a constant threat to opposing linebackers.

In L. E. L. contests the junior varsity won two and lost three, defeating Lakewood and Shaw while succumbing to Heights, Parma, and Euclid. In independent contests, however, the Red Raiders compiled a 3-1 record, overcoming Garfield, Holy Name, and Maple Heights, while losing to Brush.

Harriers Face State's Toughest Teams

In this modern age of professional athletes in college ranks, it is not an uncommon occurrence for universities to import athletes. Following the example of the larger universities, Coach Bob Rice reasoned that Shaker could also import students, as he molded our exchange student, Dick Van Dyck, into a fine distance runner. Van Dyck ultimately won the award for the most improved player.

Captained by Ray King, the Harriers ran an extremely tough schedule, facing such powers as John Adams, which won the state meet, Euclid, and Lakewood. In their matches this fall the Red Raiders were able to come out on top only once, when they outran Collinwood. In spite of a disappointing season, many fine individual performances were recorded. The best time of the year for the 2 mile course was made by senior Joe Bolek.

Netmen Capture Fifth Straight L.E.L. Crown

Bolstered by six returning lettermen, Shaker's Tennis Team captured the Lake Erie League tennis title for the fifth consecutive year. Of a possible 25 individual matches, the Shaker seven won all but two for an astounding 92% average.

The team consisted of four seniors, two juniors, and one sophomore. At singles were Warren Daane, Jim Goetz, and Steve Hrones. Competing in doubles were the teams of Pete Gibbon-Tom Shirreffs, and Roger Klein-Cary Zucker.

Coach Jack Pickering, who by this time has found that playing a match is only a confirmation of an inevitable fate for the other team, discovered something new to cheer about this year. It seems that the attendance at home matches increased to such proportions that an extra bench had to be installed to accommodate the vast multitude. The team, enduring this unprecedented eruption of enthusiasm, was completely unnerved when the football team, termed by Coach Pickering "that frolicking herd," came stomping over to give the team its support with a unique version of one of Shaker's most beloved cheers. However, despite this display of barbarianism, the racketmen were able to pull themselves together to win the match.

The most stimulating contest of the year found Lakewood invading the home courts as national champion Clark Graebner and company proved to be Shaker's most disagreeable opponents. Actually, it was Graebner who caused the trouble as he downed Warren Daane in a thoroughly delightful match which lasted well over an hour. Both boys exhibited the graceful strokes and fine footwork which made them champions. As everybody else completely outplayed their opponents, the final score in the year's "toughest" match was 4-1.

Mermen Win L.E.L. Meet, Euclid Relays

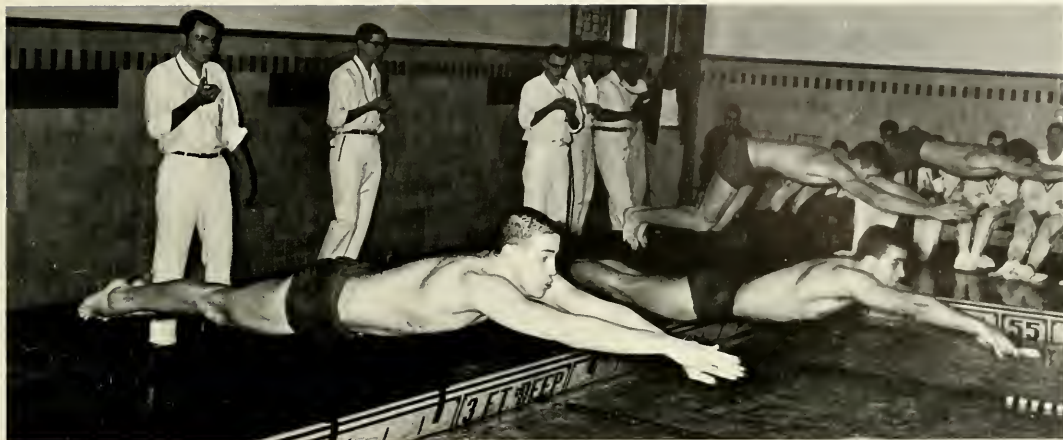

SOARING through the air, Mickey Smith makes an all out effort to help the Raiders win the meet.

Depth. This was the story of the 1959-1960 swimming team. During the season the Raiders compiled a convincing 10-3 dual meet record without the services of one outstanding performer. Shaker's emphasis on depth rather than on individual performance was evident in the Lake Erie League meet, where Shaker's persistently fine swimming won the trophy even though they did not capture a single first place.

Hitting the water early in the fall, while Sanna's boys were still hitting the dummies, the Starkmen arduously worked out in preparation for the grueling season ahead. Six weeks of practice and 3000 laps of the pool later, the mermen were certainly ready for any type of season. Though there were no single stars, individual swimmers did break six records. In the first meet, captain Bob Waldo set a new breaststroke record by two seconds. Doug Bell also surpassed the previous mark in the 200 yard individual medley, while Tam Stevens swam the fastest 40 yards ever recorded in the Shaker pool. Tom West paddled into the record books as he broke the 160 yard individual medley mark. The quartet of Waldo, Stevens, Bob Schultz, and Jim Marshall cracked both the 160 yard medley relay and the 160 freestyle relay marks.

STRETCHING for that initial advantage, Bud Mullen and Tom Stevens are on their way to another 1-2 finish.

Whizzing by their first three opponents, the Raiders overwhelmed Euclid, Shaw, and Cleveland Heights before succumbing to powerful Lakewood. The Starkmen then journeyed to Euclid for the annual relays. Again with the aid of very few first places, the Raider depth proved the decisive factor as they won a hard fought duel.

After taking a fourth place in the Kent State Relays, the mermen continued their winning ways by defeating Berea, Euclid, Shaw, and Columbus-bred Upper Arlington. After losing to a revitalized Heights squad, they once again were defeated by Lakewood. In preparation for the L.E.L. meet, Stark's boys breezed by Berea, 65-21. To complete their dual meet season, our consistently fine team whipped Warren and W.R.A.

The following week, neighboring teams collided in the district meet at Berea. This time favored Lakewood came through as the Raiders came in a close second, three points behind.

SHOUTING encouragement to his teammates, Tom West urges Bill Haas on to victory.

Under the leadership of a new coach, Frank Noble, the J.V. swimming team had an outstanding season, losing only one meet. With such a strong varsity team many boys who would be on the senior team in any other school had to be satisfied with J.V. competition. The team rolled over their first seven opponents before losing to Lakewood. Quickly recovering from this defeat, the Noblemen overwhelmed their last three opponents.

There are many boys whose unlimited potential should help to make next year's varsity an impressive squad. Many of these boys also participated in the annual interclass swimming meet, which the sophomores won. Among these were Jim Becker, Captain Jim Myers, Marty Schiffer, Bob Feldman, and Brian Roarty. Dave Vail, Dan Frischmuth, and Mike Wodka were among the upperclassmen who assisted in this outstanding season.

Staunch Defense Highlights Season

Slow, methodical, precision basketball was the keynote to the Raiders' success in the 1959-60 season. Lacking the necessary height to play a fast, running game, the Heinlenmen relied upon the possession basketball that had proven so successful a year ago. With last year's trial run under his belt, Coach Heinlen was ready to devote all his time to perfecting this control type game. To play effective possession ball, certain requirements must be met: two good, fast guards must be able to dribble with skill and dexterity; steady, accurate shooting must be achieved by at least two men, preferably three; and most importantly everyone must acquire sufficient perseverance and patience to be able to wait for the sure shot. Fulfilling these requirements this year were guards Mike Marino, Bruce Baiman, and Dick Leukart, forwards Bo Schneider, Shelly Artz, Tom Stone, and Chuck Savoca, and center Dick Oviatt. While these boys carried out the first two requirements, it was Coach Heinlen who had most of the patience and perseverance.

Before meting L.E.L. competition, the Raiders whipped two independent foes, Orange and Brush. Then a high-ranking Lakewood squad invaded and Shaker met its first defeat. Following two more disheartening losses to Cleveland Heights and St. Joseph, the Heinlenmen bounced back to win three straight, overwhelming Parma, Lutheran West and squeezing by a highly touted Shaw quintet in a real thriller on the home floor. In this Shaw contest, sturdy defense by Schneider, Stone, Marino, Oviatt, and Baiman proved to be the deciding factor.

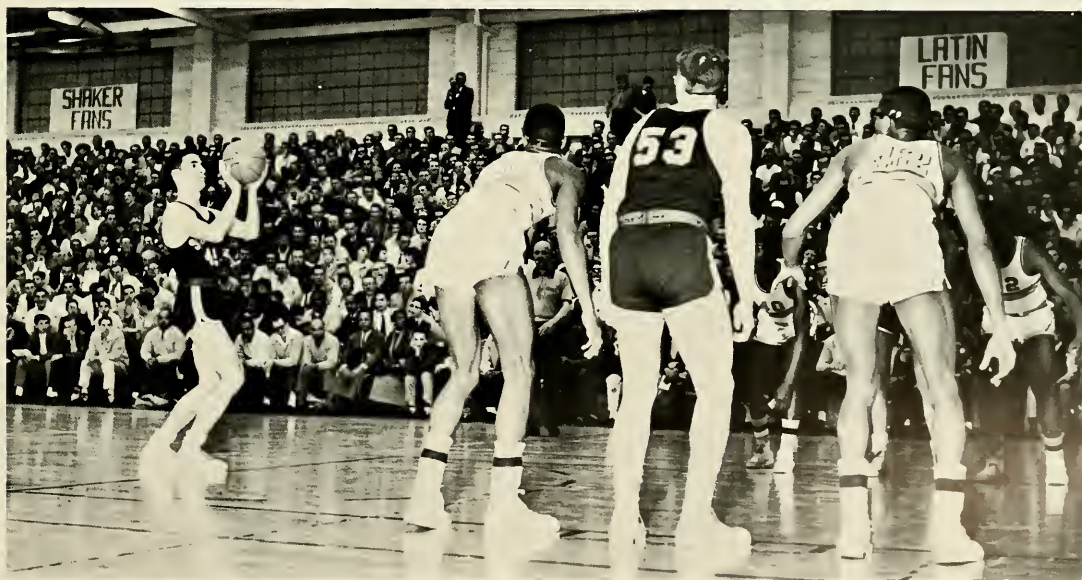

Then the basketballers hit a losing streak which seems to plague them every year as they dropped six out of their next seven games. After the sixth loss—to Garfield by 3 points—the Raiders were ready to turn the tables. In the next four contests the Shaker five came out on top in each one, defeating Shaw, Maple Heights, Euclid, and again whipping Maple Heights in the state tournament. As every team in the state—except the state champs—finished the season with a defeat, Shaker decided that it should at least lose in a big way, as it dropped to East Tech, two time state champs.

Prospects for next year's team look very bright with many outstanding sophomores moving up for varsity competition. Many of this year's juniors, taking a back seat this season, are counted on to play an important role in next season's games. Among these are Hayden Harris, Gary Golenberg, Gary Rusk, Dick Hopper, George Roth, and letterman Tom Stone.

J. V. Shooting Skill Promises Much for Future

With excellent shooting ability, fair speed, and a little better than mediocre rebounding skill, the Jayvee basketball team dribbled and passed to a 9-8 season. Although at the beginning of the year, this team appeared to have championship potential, Coach Ed Stach just could not seem to find the combination that could work together and consistently turn out victories.

In the Orange game the Byron and Woodbury graduates played as a team for the first time, as they rolled past the Orangemen 47-35. Outstanding in this game were Bob Rawson and Ron Mesnick with 16 and 12 points respectively. As the season progressed these boys played sporadic ball, at one time putting on a fine exhibition at another a disappointing showing.

HAYDEN HARRIS and Tom Humphrey tangle for a rebound.

TALKING with Captain Larry Janis, Coach Zednik exhorts him to finish off his opponent.

Under the expert guidance of Coach Ed "Zip" Zednick, the varsity wrestlers enjoyed a highly successful and rewarding 1959-1960 season. Although their 5-5 record does not at first appear impressive, the matmen did tangle with three of the state's toughest teams.

This year Shaker had many outstanding wrestlers who never failed to give their opponents a real workout and who never disappointed their ardent followers. Among these superlative matmen were Captain Larry Janis and Mike Schneiberg. Both of these boys qualified to compete in the state meet, held at the end of the season in Columbus. Captain Janis captured second place in the state in his division. Others who did a commendable job for the team this year were seniors Dick Gref and Ed Clark, who wrestled for the first time this year, and juniors Kenny Korach, Bill Baukalik, Ken Heyges, Joe Petko, Errol Cohen, and Rick Brown.

Matmen Tangle With State's Toughest Teams

Captain Janis Takes Second Place in State Meet

Opening its season at home, the squad first encountered West Tech, which it defeated by a 27-16 decision. After defeating a weak Rhodes team, 34-11, the matmen traveled to Bedford and then to Maple Heights, two of the season's most formidable foes. Unable to overcome Bedford's brute strength and baffled by Maple Heights' power and speed, the wrestlers dropped to Bedford 28-10 and to the Mustangs 33-5.

Shaker then met Show on the Cardinal mats and with the combined efforts of Janis, Gref, Schneiberg, and Clark, the grapplers whipped Shaw, 26-11. After losing to a troublesome Euclid team and beating Upper Arlington, the Raiders won their next three matches, overwhelming Lakewood, West, and Cleveland Heights. Shaker lost the last match of the year with Parma in the last round.

THROWING HIS LEG into position, Ed Clark gasps for that extra burst of strength.

GRABBING ON to his opponent, a Shaker wrestler finds himself the object of a perfectly executed flip.

Junior Varsity Perfects New Skills

In an all out effort to prepare novice wrestlers for the gruelling competition of varsity play, Coach Bob Goodman constantly emphasized the fundamentals of the sport. A host of eager sophomores and juniors participated in the activities, and many of them combined their efforts with those of the coach. The result was fine matmen. Leslie Janis, a sophomore, learned so quickly that he was promoted to the varsity for a few matches and there gained invaluable experience.

The junior varsity wrestled to a 4-4 season record, defeating West, Rhodes, Shaw and Lakewood, while dropping to Bedford, Maple Heights, Euclid, and Cleveland Heights. When this team won, it conquered in a big way, but at other times it reluctantly accepted the same punishment that it dished out. The Goodmen shellacked Rhodes 44-5 and Shaw 42-3 but took a beating from Maple Heights 35-8. Many boys are expected to return next year to help the varsity.

Raiders' Experience Promises Solid Team in '60

RECEIVING last minute instructions from the coach are co-captains Roger Baden and Kenny Lapine.

Hampered by a combination of inexperience, tough competition, and costly mistakes, the baseballers finished with a 7-11 record in 1959. Benefitting from the services of only five returning lettermen—Ralph Karlovac, Bill Rupp, Kenny Lapine, Denny Reimer, and Harley Krovitz—Coach Heinlen had a major rebuilding job to accomplish before the opening game in mid-April. The Raiders began their workouts in the gym early in March and diligently practiced hitting badminton birdies, playing pepper, and romping around the gym. When the weather broke, the Heinlenmen went outside to show the coach what they could do on the diamond.

When the season opened, there were six sophomores and juniors on the starting team and only three seniors. Playing against Benedictine in the first of the season's eighteen contests, Shaker pulled out a real squeaker, 8-7, as both teams were afflicted with opening day jitters. During the season the mittmen often played admirably, such as during the victories against Heights and Shaw. But they also played a few disappointing contests such as the two heartbreaking losses against Euclid.

After the regular season terminated, the boys who would return for the next year participated in a summer sandlot league. This experience enables the team to acquire new skills and poise without enduring the tensions that accompany a regular season.

Returning this year are co-captains Kenny Lapine and Roger Baden and seniors Denny Reimer, Bill Schweller, Mark Fishman, Bo Schneider, and Roger Klein, and juniors Ken Koroch, Bill Boukalik and George Roth and a host of promising sophomores.

SWINGING for the fences, Kenny Korach exhibits grim determination.

Early practice, limitless enthusiasm, and outstanding talent each played an important role in making Shaker's 1959 track team one of the best in the school's history. With many experienced boys returning for another year of interscholastic competition, Coach Bob Rice anticipated an outstanding season. Living up to the coach's expectations, the team finished with a 7-1 dual meet record and placed second in the L.E.L. meet behind the star-studded Euclid squad. Many records were broken this year in a number of events. The mile-relay team of Bill Gross, Jae Johnson, Vic Ippolito, and Pete Schliewen shattered the L.E.L. mark which had stood for 29 years. The school high jump mark was broken by Vic Ippolito, and Dick Balazs scampered over the high and low hurdles in record time. In 1960 the team was strengthened even further by the return of many lettermen.

Superlative in every way. This is the best way to describe Shaker's 1959 state championship golf team. This squad played with such poise and accuracy that it never felt the pressures that usually accompany high school sports. Hitting the links early in the spring, these boys never let up until they had secured the treasured State Championship crown for the second straight year.

The first team consisted of seniors Larry Kahn and Dick Abrams, and juniors Grant Kloppman, state medalist champ Earl Weiss, and Dick Leukart. Kloppman and Weiss consistently shot in the high 70's while Leukart and Kohn scored in the low 80's.

Depth also played an important role in this outstanding team, for there were many other boys with enough skill to compete in matches. Those who also won their letters were Marty Spigle, Mark Greenbaum, Mark Bonhard, Dan Jonas, and Mike Kelley.

With five lettermen returning for the 1960 season, a third consecutive state championship seems quite conceivable. Three of the four members of the first team are back, since only captain Larry Kahn graduated.

JOHN PALMIERI sinks a lay-up in a close intramural game.

HEAVING THE BALL down court, a basketball player takes advantage of a fast break.

The tensions and thrills of interscholastic sports are many, and experiences gained in such a competition cannot be matched. Unfortunately only a small number of students can participate in such activities and take advantage of their many benefits. However, at Shaker everyone has the opportunity to take an active part in an intramural sports program. Under the guidance of Bob Rice this program meets the needs of a vast number of boys who wish to reap the advantages of competitive action.

Including a wide variety of sports, the program offers football, basketball, wrestling, volleyball, and swimming at an interclass level. In the fall activities, Jim Kohner's senior crew of footballers crushed all opponents and emerged champions. As is becoming customary, the sophomores captured the interclass swimming crown. Since varsity tankers are not allowed to compete, the sophomores can enter their best representatives.

As soon as the leaves on the ground were covered by snow, the basketball loop—composed of two leagues, seniors and combined juniors and sophomores—was organized. The junior circuit championship was easily taken by Don Dod's dribblers but the two senior teams, Stan Chernett's and Randy Knavel's, fought right down to the wire. Although the faculty squad was again unbeaten, they are not included in the final standings. Some of the more illustrious members on this team were Fred Heinlen, Nay Sanna, Jim Snavelly, Jack Pickering, Bob Rice, and Don Hassman.

GIRLS' SPORTS

THE SOUND OF SHAKER IS THE EXCITEMENT of the girls' physical education program, the shrill soprano of a silver whistle and of a feminine voice yelling "foul." It is the enthusiastic shouts at a spirited volleyball game, and the tense "Touché!" of a fencer.

Hockey, volleyball, and basketball were the predominant sports of the year. Female Red Raiders competed in these games with girls from private and Lake Erie League schools. This year's sophomore, junior, and senior varsity teams were well rewarded for their long afternoons of practice, for they won all their inter-school games.

In the last decade such activities as fencing, tumbling, synchronized swimming, first-aid, golf, and this year's innovation—the trampoline—have been added to Shaker's sports program. This variety of sports helps put into practice the policy of the physical education department: greater participation for a greater number of girls.

Sophomore Girls Are Introduced

A sophomore suddenly finds herself in a high school physical education class faced with rules to follow and decisions to make. She is told that she must take at least one team sport, one individual activity, and one dance course. And she is further instructed that she must pass her intermediate swimmer's test before she can graduate. She discovers that during the year she will be able to sign up for intramurals and interclass tournaments in several sports. If she does well in one of these activities, she may find herself on a varsity team playing against girls from other schools or even on an all-star team. Regardless of her athletic ability, she learns the value of teamwork and sportsmanship and has a lot of fun.

The Junior Class, as usual, can boast a number of girls who have earned athletic letters by participating in intramurals and interclass tournaments and by being chosen for varsity and all-star teams. But this year there were many juniors who received keys for their outstanding athletic ability. This year the Junior Class dominated the sports calendar. They not only beat their opponents from other schools, but also gained victory over the seniors in hackey and volleyball. The upset in hackey tradition was witnessed by a large crowd which gathered to watch the Senior Black Spots, showing their school spirit in red tights and white gym suits, battle against a valiant and skillful Junior team.

Seniors Enjoy

Seniors discover privileges which they have never before received. Not only are they V.I.P.'s around the school, but the physical education department offers them sports in which sophomores and juniors cannot participate. Since seniors have physical education classes during the last two periods of the day, they can take advantage of the dry tennis courts and the archery range which by that time is no longer dew-covered. But regardless of the weather they can always participate in the exclusive senior classes of trampoline, synchronized swimming, golf, or Senior Life Saving. Even with all these new advantages, senior girls are still partial to the traditional hockey, volleyball, and basketball. These are the activities in which they excel and in which they vanquish girls from other schools in and around Cleveland.

JUMP BALL—Players from Shaker and Shaw contend for possession of the ball at L.E.L. playday.

Tradition was both upheld and broken during the decade of the 1950's. Girls' Leaders Club, while carrying on its fine tradition of service in physical education classes and intramural programs, began a new policy for the '60's. In the past, sophomores, juniors, and seniors were admitted to the club in the fall. Starting this year, however, sophomores were not eligible to try out until the second semester. This plan gives girls in the club an opportunity to become better acquainted with prospective members so that they can vote on the new sophomore leaders more intelligently.

The most unusual breach of tradition in 1960 was the upset in the hockey and volleyball tournaments. As usual the juniors defeated the sophomores, but the results of the clash between juniors and seniors amazed the fans. Although the seniors fought fiercely, chance and skill combined to make the juniors victorious.

Popularity in Class and Outside of School

Blue waters have great attraction for the girls at Shaker. At least a large number of them participate in aqua-activities. Besides the classes offered in intermediate swimming, life saving, diving, and synchronized swimming, there are three extracurricular activities that center around the pool.

The Girls' Swimming Leaders Club is a service organization. Its members help swimming instructors teach their classes, score and time in boys' swimming meets, and serve as lifeguards for special events such as open houses. Sharcs' Club and Guppies are synchronized swimming groups. The Sharcs put on a pageant in the spring in which the Guppies perform one number. Since Guppies was formed this year, its hardworking members have had to come to school at 7:30 in the morning to practice their routine. Sharcs spent their afternoons in rehearsal for their pageant. The result was a fun-filled circus—an excellent show!

ACTIVITIES

THE SOUND OF SHAKER IS A MEDLEY. IT is the staccato rhythm of Shakerite typewriters, the thud of the President's gavel in a Student Council meeting, the report of a rifle at the rifle range. It is a varied sound, as varied as Shaker's extracurricular activities. Through participation in extracurricular activities we made new friends, as we harmonized in the A Coppella Choir or "parlezed" in the French Club. The bright lure of the spotlight drew some of us to the stage and to school-wide fame, as in the Social Council review—the Friday Variety. In the picture on the right, Dick Van Dyck waits apprehensively in the wings before going into his comedy routine during a dress rehearsal of the show.

Many of the activities we enjoy today have survived since 1950, while others have passed on with the decade. They have been replaced this year by some new sounds of the '60's—the Jazz Club, the Fine Arts Club, the Amateur Radio Club—all of which add their individual melodies to the symphony of sound which is Shaker.

Student Council Improves Shaker Policy

The sound of the president's gavel announced the new aims of school policy as Steve Hrones ably fulfilled the role of Shaker's leader. Sophomores received advice and encouragement in adjusting to baffling high school routine by means of a film depicting typical activities during the year. Student faces were seen for the first time behind the bookstore window as volunteers offered their services before and after school.

School-wide approval marked the adoption of the Student Aid Program, designed to provide ready help for floundering and puzzled students, while relieving the heavy load of teachers. Capable students who offered to exploit their knowledge were given a taste of teaching on a small but worthwhile scale. The Student Council met the demands of a world rapidly expanding its horizons by revising the constitution for the first time since 1926.

Striving for a more efficient system, the Demerit panel devoted much of its effort this year toward improving student attitude rather than increasing attendance at seventh period detention. Under the leadership of Student Council Vice-President Russ Bishop, the Panel this year consisted of nine members, two more than last year, so that a more thorough job could be done. Aside from the disciplinary side of the Panel's duties, many nights after school were spent recording and distributing the accumulated demerits.

New policies and bold ideas characterized this year's Central Committee, the governing body of the honor study hall. For the first time students were permitted to sign out to the social room if they did not wish to study. This new privilege was a major factor in eliminating confusion and whispering among those who had finished studying. Order was further established by the re-institution of student proctors, who helped to enforce the regulations laid down by the Central Committee.

The boosters were a familiar sight to all Shakerites this year. Their well-known, "I'm sorry; this hall is closed during the lunch periods," or "the lot's filled—we have to save forty places today for the P. T. Shaker Social Council

Aiming at a social program to meet with the approval of every Shakerite, from the avid football fan to the book lover, the Social Council gained inspiration and encouragement from its enthusiastic director, Miss Nancy Hollister. The first event on the calendar was the Kick-Off Party, which set the mark for the season's spirit.

Tuesday afternoon became a bright spot during the class week as the Snack Bar, overseen by Social Council Vice-President Lou Black, opened its doors to hordes of hungry-eyed Shakerites in need of inspiration for a week of work. Shaker extended a warm welcome to high-schoolers from other parts of Cleveland when students met on equal terms to eat, drink, and make merry. A shining crystal ball sparkled with reflections of the Christmas Dance, long awaited by Shakerites as the high spot of the social season.

Band Harmonizes with

Quality, not quantity, was the keynote of the Shaker Heights Marching Band this year. Although a smaller group than last year, they played their spirited, rousing music just as enthusiastically as ever. Whether at a football game on an icy autumn afternoon or evening, or at a crowded pep rally in the boys' gym, the band was always there. The band opened the season by leading exuberant Shakerites around the field after the opening pep rally of the year. During half-time at football games, in rain, sleet, or snow, the band was always up and marching, entertaining the crowds with exhibitions of precision marching and formations, led by the majorettes and drum major Bill Weiss.

Besides sports events, however, the band also played at Shaker Square during Experience Day in October. In the spring it climaxed the marching season by participating in the traditional Memorial Day Parade. After students had just become accustomed to concentrating on their studies with the blare of the band practicing outside every day during 6th period, the enthusiastic instrumentalists turned their energies to another direction as they began working toward the concert season and especially the spring Instrumental Concert. Climaxing a busy, rewarding year was the annual Band Picnic.

A Cappella Voices Enthusiasm

This year's A Cappella Choir brought novelty as well as entertainment to our high school. Meeting every morning under the direction of Mr. Reynold Ellis, they spent much of their rehearsal time on the Alumni Concert, the high point of the singers' season. The guest soloist was one of our own alumnae, Miss Elizabeth Wright. Also highlighting the holiday season was the choir's performance at the Public Square.

Early spring found the choir appearing at both Bryon and Woodbury Junior High Schools. Subsequently a trip was made to Pismo High School for participation in the annual Lake Erie League Choir Festival. The graduation of our seniors, at Severance Hall, was the last performance of the choir, a beautiful finale to another successful season.

Choral Groups Blend Voices in Song

The Singers' Club and Glee Club rehearsed vigorously this year under the direction of Mr. Reynold Ellis. Both groups are composed of girls only. The Glee Club is limited to sophomores. Participation in one of these clubs is usually prerequisite to membership in A Cappella Choir.

The Christmas Assembly this year saw the Singers' Club and Glee Club perform with the A Cappella Choir, while in the spring these sonorous singers gave a concert of their own.

Jazz Club Listens and Enjoys

The Jazz club, completing its first year in Shaker, provided a common meeting ground for students who were "hep" to that school of music. Members were selected by an interview with the sponsor, Miss Terry Ellwitz. An informal air characterized the monthly meetings which were held in the Elbow Room, while refreshments added to the social atmosphere of conviviality and conversation. Members enjoyed famous recordings of jazz greats and took part in enthusiastic discussions at the end of the listening sessions.

SWINGIN' EASY, Jazz Club members enjoy the "greets."

"Hams" Make Worldwide Contact

United by a common interest in "ham" radios, a group of Shakerites founded the Amateur Radio Club this fall. The members operated their own station, and thus were able to make contact with other "hams" all over the world. In addition they exhibited a public display of amateur radio equipment. Most of the members hold licenses issued by the Federal Communications Commission. For those who wished to obtain licenses, study courses were held by the qualified members at every meeting. As soon as a "ham" radio fan received his license, he became a full-fledged member of the club and was able to participate actively in its program.

SETTING UP SHOP, Harvey Laidman and Chuck Smukler prepare to communicate with other "hams."

Shakerite Keeps Students Posted

This year's Shakerite staff fulfilled its promise of being "an expression of student opinion." In a new and enlarged editorial section controversial topics were discussed. Thought-provoking subjects from the editors, such as school spirit and problems, led to equally provocative letters from the student body.

Appearing in every issue were delightful witticisms from the pen of "Corny Orny," otherwise known as Editor Stan Ornstein. Peter Gibbon contributed an exciting sports column under the questionable by-line of Monk.

The April Fool's issue successfully tickled Shaker's funny bone with its comic disorder and humor, while the graduation issue contributed a bit of nostalgia to the seniors.

Even though deadline time was sometimes hectic, every issue, under the expert guidance of Mr. Burton Randall, was finally and successfully "put to bed."

A New Concept in Sight and Living Sound

The school year of 1959-60 went on record as an eventful one for all. Shaker students were not only watched, but also listened to this season in preparation for the 45 R.P.M. record which was inserted in the cover. Rooming the halls as GRISTMILL photographers have done for years was Jim Weidner, private ear, with a tape recorder. Paul Newman, famed actor and former Shaker student, narrated the record which supplemented the GRISTMILL.

Meeting every fifth period in room 306 with their able sponsor, Mr. George Starr, the staff learned that putting together a yearbook is no easy task. But with cooperation among all the editors the job was accomplished.

This year's industrious group continued last year's policy of publishing a literary magazine, the SEMANTEME, which gave would-be poets and authors a chance to see their works in print.

USING TEAMWORK, Editors Jim Weidner and Barry Rich work out layout problems.

Y-Teens is a girls' organization dedicated to furthering the ideals of service and community spirit among its members. Any girl might join, but strict rules for attendance weeded out those whose interest was not sustained. The three individual chapters—Sophomore, Junior, and Senior—met separately except for the officers' initiation ceremony in the fall and the Dad-Daughter Dessert in the spring. The three chapters were co-ordinated by the Y-Teen Board, headed by Chairman of the Board, Betty Wade. In the separate meetings each chapter planned its own program of service projects.

For Thanksgiving seniors filled baskets with canned goods for underprivileged families, while juniors sent their baskets to the Golden Age Center. The sophomores, still new to Y-Teens, were introduced to possible projects by a Y.W.C.A. welfare worker.

Y-Teens also worked in many ways to brighten the Christmas holidays for the needy. Seniors donated old toys to the Woodhill Recreation Center for underprivileged children during a party they gave there. Sophomores entered into the spirit of the season by dividing into three groups which were responsible for lending cheer to a hospital, an old folks' home, and an orphanage.

HI-Y MEMBERS and dates add snap to orphans' Christmas party.

for a Successful Year

Dedicated to service, Hi-Y members gathered every Wednesday evening at the Heights Y.M.C.A. The chapters met separately and planned their meetings individually. Joint meetings of all the chapters were held to discuss common business, such as the annual Hi-Y Fall Ball given at Shaker in October. Some of the service projects planned by the club later in the year were financed by this dance.

This year's Hi-Y was the largest and most successful group in the history of the organization. Unanimous participation in service projects, such as the Christmas party held for underprivileged children, characterized the spirit of the club.

Hi-Y was not all work and no play this year, however. Members participated in inter-chapter football, basketball, and baseball games, thus intensifying the friendly rivalry among the groups. In the fall, the chapters pooled their energies to challenge the Y-Teens to a football game and emerged from the fracas as victors.

New members were inducted in the fall at Plymouth Church. Each prospective member had to obtain a letter of recommendation from a faculty member or other responsible adult in order to join.

With the enthusiasm and initiative of Mr. Luis Fumero to serve as a guiding light, the Spanish Club was re-established this year and became a highly successful organization. Monthly meetings were followed by refreshments which offered a chance for informal chatting (in Spanish, of course) among the members. One of the highlights of the year was the Christmas Party at which every member got a chance to take a swing—blindfolded—at the piñata, a cardboard animal stuffed with candy.

Vive la France!

Walking down the hall after school this past year, one often was likely to hear "Je ne comprends pas" or "Ne parlez qu'en français s'il vous plait" emitting from the Social Room. For this would have been typical of a meeting of "Le Cercle Français"—The French Club—where only French is spoken. The club not only enabled one to learn to speak "le français" more fluently, but it also taught the culture and customs of the French people. Among the many highlights of the year were a talk by a Frenchman who compared our life in America with that in France, a visit by a French chef, and a play presented in French by members of the club.

Bridge Club Bids for Fun and Practice

JOHN NAGLE pauses in the game to check his electronic computer.

Matching wits with skilled opponents, meeting new friends, and competing in tournaments were only a part of the varied program offered to the members of the Bridge Club this year. Early in the fall beginners were introduced to bridge by student instructors who taught them the fundamentals of the game. As soon as the novices had mastered the difference between a "trick" and a "trump" and had begun to absorb the bewildering complexities of bidding and the point system, they were graduated to the leagues of the "professionals" with whom they played their first faltering games. When most of the members had become reasonably proficient in the game, the annual bridge tournament was held, climaxing a year of stimulating competition and fun.

Chessmen Checkmate Challengers

Keen wits and fast thinking made every meeting of the Chess Club as exciting for its participants as a football game. Gathering in Room 104 every Friday afternoon, experienced chessmen taught neophytes the ropes early in the year. Later, members prepared for the annual chess tournament. Following in the steps of its predecessors, this year's chess team emerged victorious as city-wide champions.

Riflemen Aim for High Marksmanship

The Rifle Club, composed of both male and female members, taught interested students the art of riflery as well as safety in firing.

Every Monday and Tuesday saw Shaker marksmen (and women) firing at the rifle range. After learning the rudiments of the sport, novices also visited the range to test the results of their newly acquired skills.

Bowl 'Em Over, Boys!

Tramping into Mr. Rini's Kinsman-Lee Lanes one Monday afternoon in September, The Boys' Bowling Club began their twenty-five week season. The club met weekly at 4:00 with Mr. James Bristol as teacher sponsor.

The boy who bowled the most pins above his average during Thanksgiving week, was given a turkey by the proprietors of the lanes, an event which has become traditional. The Shaker League won the Cuyahoga County Roll-Off in January and participated in the Lake Erie League Tournament in the spring.

"RATS!"—say Pre-Med members Tom Mann and Gayle Henkin.

Pre-Med Club Ventures into New Areas of Research

This year the Pre-Med Club gained world-wide significance when it conducted research in nutritional deficiency. Using a special synthetic diet in an experiment which has never before been performed in the world, a committee of students from the club, headed by President Tom Mann, fed the diet to rats for a period of ten days. At the end of this time important results were noted which significantly augmented previous research in the field of nutritional deficiency conducted at the National Institute of Health in Washington, D. C.

This was merely one part of the varied program offered to members of the Pre-Med Club. In addition, excursions to the Western Reserve laboratories, lectures by noted professors and doctors, and scientific and medical movies, such as Hemo, the Magnificent and a cancer film, were all invaluable experiences for the aspiring doctors and nurses who compose the club. Through such a varied program, gifted students were given the opportunity to have contact with the people in the medical profession, and to prepare for the important work they will be doing ten years from now.

WITH THREE DISCIPLES, Barry Neavill, Elaine Griff, and Larry Nelson, Mr. Linscheid plans the program of the Pre-Med Club.

Science Club Explores the Realms of the Unknown

LABORATORY ASSISTANTS: First: Jane Taylor, Sherri Horwitz, Beth Watkins, Harry Kohn, James Hacker. Second: Bette Ann Kain, Joyce Shur, Janie Swartsberg, Allan Erbe, Joseph Geraci, Barry Neavill. Third: Will Traub, Sheryl Notkins, Ann Todd, Jonathan Seldon, Wendy Simon, Tom Mann, Larry Nelson.

Visiting research laboratories and hearing prominent speakers in the field of science were just two of the various activities in which the Science Club members participated this year. This group was composed of students who wished to further their knowledge of the ever expanding field of science. Significant demonstrations of scientific principles were included on the agenda of many of the club's monthly meetings. One much enjoyed though less erudite and scientific event on the club calendar was the annual picnic.

Some of the students were able to apply the scientific principles they had learned in the science club to actual situations by serving as assistant teachers. That is, they assisted the biology teachers during the laboratory period by helping the biology students with their dissections and observations.

SCHOOL PSYCHOLOGIST addresses Future Teachers.

Students planning to enter the field of education met with similarly minded friends at the monthly meetings of the Future Teachers of America Club. Members gained valuable information concerning their prospective career through guest speakers who discussed their experiences as teachers. In the fall the Shaker group participated in a meeting held at Western Reserve University, at which chapters of the F.T.A. organization from all over the United States were represented.

Fine Arts Club Enjoys Beaux-Arts

In an age striving for ever greater achievement in scientific fields, the fine arts are often neglected. Interest in Explorer I and in Sputniks is slowly exceeding interest in MacLeish and Bartok. Although Shaker's extra-curricular program offers many activities for the scientifically inclined, it also attempts to enrich one's aesthetic sense through the newly instituted Fine Arts Club. While a profound knowledge of the beaux-arts is not a requirement for membership, a sincere interest in art, drama, music, literature or dance is a necessity.

Monthly meetings centered on each of these five major divisions and ranged from a speech given by widely renowned violinist Dr. Jerome Gross, who lectured on "The Scientific Method in Music Today," to small groups of Shakerites, members of the club, who met at each other's houses for informal discussions on contemporary literature and philosophy.

FINE ARTS CLUB OFFICERS: Jeonnie Herzegh, Winnie Lutz, Stefanie Kochman, Linda Blondis, Toby Horwitz, Tony Holmes, Gayle Henkin, Jill Lieder, Carol Frolkis.

OFFERING HIS OPINION, Roger Klein enters a lively JCOWA debate.

Councils Discuss World Problems

In its monthly meetings the Youth Council on Human Relations learned about, discussed, and searched for an understanding of the people of the world and the problems which they face in their environment and in living with their fellowman.

In the course of this year's highly informative programs two meetings were especially important and interesting. The first of these was a talk given by a member of the Urban League of Cleveland, who discussed segregation and the various problems facing the Negro today. The second meeting of importance was concerned with the rise of anti-Semitism, and was highlighted by a talk presented by a prominent Cleveland speaker.

GAINING INSIGHT, Youth Council members ponder an imminent social problem.

P.A.—Sound of Shaker

A new sound brightened morning announcements every Thursday as P.A. announcers Don Stern and Sandra Garron presented the news "from around the halls and across the court" in an original version of "Radio Central News." This novel approach to P.A. announcements was made possible by the innovation of a recorder which was used to tape each program in advance. Five pairs of boys and girls each announced once during the week, while sportscasters and special events announcers reported on the latest athletic news and on up-coming dances and plays.

Behind the scenes were the P.A. technicians who were responsible for the smooth running of the morning announcements. In addition they played the school chimes, and operated the tape recorders, record players, and P.A. system at dances, pep rallies, and examinations.

Second: Susan Reed, Sandi Bacal, Barb Winger, Faith Jencik, Jane Levering. Third: John Fishel, Allan Rath, Bill Hess, Douglas Pape, Larry Ballanoff.

Aspiring actresses and actors and behind-the-scenes artists gained valuable experience in Troup 815 of the National Thespian Society. Besides helping to present On Borrowed Time and Arsenic and Old Lace, the Thespians took part in a television workshop, visited shows, and heard lectures by local theatrical personalities. During the annual Christmas reunion, Thespians gathered for an open house and dinner. Excursions to Musicarnival began and climaxed the year.

DRAMA PRODUCTIONS OFFICERS: Wendy Simon, Jane Shack, Lynn Selker, Kathie Schwartz.

HELPFUL THESPIANS Dave Griffiths and Jim Chaney aid magician Jim Weidner in a demonstration.

The Drama Production Club is devoted to helping its members become familiar with set design, make-up, and acting techniques. In addition, members may earn points toward Thespians by working on crews of school productions. Speakers such as the director of Karamu Playhouse, who showed slides of plays produced there, gave the budding Barrymores many professional tips.

Crews Make Cameras and Lights Purr

Students addicted to the stage and good hard work provided the manpower for the Stage Crew. Working efficiently and quietly behind the scenes, Stage Crew members helped to present school productions such as On Borrowed Time and Arsenic and Old Lace. They built and took down the sets, operated the curtain, moved the scenery and properties between acts, and worked the complicated maze of lights that set the mood on stage. Although rarely seen by the audience, crew members kept productions moving at their proper pace.

ADVERTISING

THE SOUND OF SHAKER IS THE RING OF cash registers, the busy chatter of people in a hurry, the clink of money across counters in the shops of the Shaker community. For the sound of Shaker extends farther than the walls of the school. It reaches out to the stores where we buy our red and white scarves, our ivy league shirts, and our saddle shoes, to the movies and restaurants where we go with our dates, and to the firms where we work after school and on Saturdays.

Mindful of the close bond between our high school and the community, the Shaker Square businessmen provide us with the opportunity of working as sales personnel in their business establishments during Shaker Experience Day. This is just one more link joining the school and the community, uniting both in the common search for a better way of life in a promising new decade.
